

TEST YOUR KNOWLEDGE

1. Dividing the weight of the dressed carcass by the weight of the live rabbit gives you What?
2. Single fryers are judged on their fur, meat type and flesh condition. Which is most important?
3. When judging this breed it is requested that the lighter or diluted varieties be judged first?
4. Which of the Angora breeds allows the most points for wool?
5. This breed of rabbit has the highest number of points allowed for general type?
6. This breed of rabbit has two lap spots?
7. This breed of rabbit allows more points for color, 50, than any other breed?
8. This is the only cylindrical breed of rabbit?
9. A rabbit having pododermatitis would be suffering from what condition?
10. Rabbits with this condition have an inflammation of the inner membrane of the eyelid?
11. Treatment for this rabbit condition is giving fresh or frozen pineapple juice?
12. This breed of cavy can have either a soft/plush coat or a harsh/rough coat that is kinky?
13. A Cavy will replace a broken tooth with in how many days?
14. The ARBA recognizes how many different breeds of cavies?
15. What is the average gestation for a cavy?

Answers will be available on the MSRBA website
www.msrb.net

Answers Nov/Dec 2007

1. Carcass yield
2. Meat type
3. Tan
4. satin Angora
5. English Lop
6. Cinnamon
7. Silver
8. Himalayan
9. Sore hocks
10. Conjunctivitis
11. Trichobezoar
12. Teddy
13. 7 days
14. 13
15. 68-70 days