

TEST YOUR KNOWLEDGE ?

1. Mating rabbits of the same breed, but not related, is using what type of breeding program?
2. Using this solution to clean the wax from a rabbit's ear will result in a better tattoo?
3. An intact female rabbit is called what?
4. This breed of cavy allows points for the coat density, length, resiliency and kink?
5. Rabbits need an adequate supply of this at all times?
6. On what part of a rabbit would you find shadow bars?
7. The ARBA recognizes how many rabbit body types?
8. Dashing around the cage and thumping its hind feet is a rabbit's response to what?
9. What is condition called when a rabbit's incisor teeth meet directly without any overlap?
10. What is the term for the colored markings on the feet and legs of a Himalayan marked rabbit?
11. Using 1 part of this liquid to 5 parts of water is an excellent solution for sanitizing nest boxes?
12. A rabbit coat that is missing guard hairs exposing the undercoat is called what?
13. Rabbits having this disease will have a jelly-like stool and will sometimes grind their teeth?
14. On what cavy breeds will you find a mustache?
15. Most of rabbit's food digestion occurs in what organ?

(answers available on our website: www.msrb.net)

January/February 2005 - Test Your Knowledge – Answers

1. Outcrossing
2. Alcohol
3. Doe
4. Teddy
5. Fresh Water
6. Front or hind feet
7. 5
8. Fear
9. Butting
10. Boots
11. Bleach
12. Broken coat
13. Muroid entropathy
14. Abyssinian or Abyssinian Satin
15. Small intestine

* Please note – questions are taken from the following references:
ARBA Standard of Perfection, ARBA Guidebook & Rabbit production